Hertfordshire Philharmonia

Festival Concert

St Paul's Church, Hatfield Road, AL1 4JP

Saturday 6th July 2013, 7.30pm

Conductor: Jacques Cohen

Soloist: Edgar Bailey

Weber: Der Freischütz Overture

Bruch: Violin Concerto No. 1

Sibelius: Symphony No. 5

Sibelius 5th Symphony echoes his own light & dark moods, resolving in a joyous finale. Bruch's Violin Concerto is full of powerful melodies. An entire opera's drama is cleverly condensed into the delightful Freischütz overture.

Edgar Bailey appears as winner of Making Music Award for Young Concert Artist 2012.

About St Albans Summer Music

St Albans Summer Music is a collection of six St Albans-based musical organisations, presenting concerts and dance events over one month in Summer.

These organisations have been part of the St Albans cultural and artistic milieu for many years, and have put on events attended by thousands of people.

St Albans Summer Music participants include:

- The Tony Wigram Festival of Music
- The St Albans Folk Festival
- St Albans Symphony Orchestra
- Carillon Chamber Choir
- St Albans Chamber Choir
- Hertfordshire Philharmonia

Within this leaflet you will find details of the concerts being put on by each of the six participants.

More information can be found on the St Albans Summer Music website:

8th June – 6th July 2013

St Albans Symphony Orchestra

Festival Concert

St Albans Cathedral, AL1 4BY
Saturday 8th June, 7.30pm

- Holst: The Planets
Ravel: Pavane pour une infante défunte
Khachaturian: Spartacus Suite No. 2
Arutiunian: Concerto for Trumpet
(Giovanni Re, trumpet)

Gustav Holst's most famous work The Planets remains an eternal favourite. Khachaturian's ballet suite Spartacus has achieved widespread fame as a television theme. Less well-known but equally rewarding is the trumpet concerto by fellow Armenian Arutiunian, who based his work on the melodic and rhythmic characteristics of Armenian folk music.
